Up here in Danielson there are many followers of the basketball game that would like to see the Danielson team go against the Jewett City five, champlons of New London county, Danielson has a fairly good aggregation and a series of contests between the two teams would undoubtedly mean some of the fastest games of the winter and lively interest among the followers of the game.

Slicking Up Railroad Station. Danielson is to have a better looking railroad station shortly, even though it does not get the new one it would like to have. Painters sent here by the railroad company have got to work on the interior of the building, and the waiting rooms are being made to look clean and bright. The exterior of the building is also to be painted, and when it is finished it will look better to the town's people and the traveling public than it has for many a moon.

To Vote With New Ballots.

Warden W. Irving Bullard says that he will not be a candidate for re-election at the annual borough meeting in April. Warden Bullard has made a record as a competent official, and his decision to withdraw from the office will be a disappointment to many citizens of Danielson. One year terms at the head of the borough government have in recent years come to be a habit with the wardens. The place is not an easy one to fill, requiring the devotion of much time, ultra diplomatic calibre and business capacity to keep the wheels running smoothly. All of these essentials are required of the men that the elected to the place, and Danielson has had a list of very good wardens, but the office requires such an amount of self-sacrifice and attention to the interests of the public that it is difficult to find a man that is willing to carry the load for more than one year at a time. Financially, he gets nothing out of the office. He is extention to the interests and the mount of the office will be a disappointment to many citizens of Danielson. A good many of the neighbors are for abolishing "Statuary hall." Idaho has contributed a statue of George L. Shoup, who, though an excellent man and a hig man in Idaho, does not seem to have attained to Statuary hall size. The discussion of Gen, Lee has seemed mischievous and unprofitable. The collection of effigies in the hall already tends to be more curious than edifying, and promises to increase in incongruities and appalling contrasts as the years accrue. Village Would Like Ball Team, but Lacks Suitable Field-News from the Lodge Rooms-Personals.

The prospect of Noank being represented by a baseball team this season is not very encouraging, although the matter is being agitated by Manager E. A. Ashby and an effort will be made to have a team in the field. Mr. Ashby stated Wednesday that he could give very little encouragement, as there are several matters that will handicap him in getting a team together. While several of last year's handleap him in getting a team together. While several of last year's players have left town, the chief trouble will be in getting a field in which to play the game. This matter has always been a source of trouble to ball players here and last year it was necessary to go out of town to the Poquonnock racetrack when home games were scheduled. While there is a fine diamond at this place it was found to be too far away from the vilinge to draw a paying crowd and the only thing that saved the team from finandraw a paying crowd and the only thing that saved the team from financial rout last year was the subscriptions by the lovers of the national game. Mr. Ashby has had a lot in mind that would have required some alteration and hoped to get a lease of the property, but a recent announcement that the land had been sold and is to be marked out for summer cottages ends this project.

Scott, the fast center fielder of last year's team, has left Noank and is playing in one of the minor league teams in Florida, Zellar and Schackley of Stonington, who played fast ball here, are to play with Stonington in the Connecticut and Rhode Island lague. While the absence of these three players from the game would cripple the team, there is no doubt but other players can be obtained, providing the management is successful in getting land for a diamond.
